

Company Overview

GroveStreet is a private equity and venture capital investor with an AUM of $7.3 billion focused on high-performing, lower-middle-market buyout, growth, turnaround, and venture capital funds and co-investments. We invest through “fund of one” structures, each customized for a global base of large institutional investors. We invest personal capital alongside our clients and have carried interest compensation in all our “funds of one.” GroveStreet was founded in 1998 and is an SEC-registered investment adviser. We are located in Newton, Massachusetts, and have a team of ~40.

The Opportunity

GroveStreet is seeking to hire an Investment Professional to work alongside the firm’s Managing Partners in support of our core investment activities. This is a potential Partner-track position, and our approach has always been to develop future Partners internally.

The successful candidate will be expected to perform a range of responsibilities including, but not limited to, sourcing and screening fund and direct investment opportunities alongside the Partners, attending presentations by prospective fund GPs, conducting deep due diligence and reference calls with portfolio CEOs and co-investors, evaluating partnership agreements, monitoring investment performance, and analyzing general private equity industry trends.

While the candidate's role will be, first and foremost, that of an investment professional, GroveStreet’s investment team is also responsible for the firm’s business development activity. As such, as the candidate develops in this partner-track position over time, they will be expected to contribute to the firm’s business development efforts, which include not only participating in ongoing conversations with existing and prospective clients but also identifying new prospects and nurturing those relationships over time.

The Candidate

- 3 to 7 years of investment experience in funds, co-investments, or directs. Business development experience, while not required, would be additive.
- Bachelor’s and MBA or other advanced degrees from top-tier institutions, or the equivalent educational / work experience.
- Proven analytical skills and acumen.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills.
- Team-oriented and collaborative work style.
- A high-integrity individual with uncompromising ethics.
- An independent thinker with a high degree of intellectual curiosity.
- A self-starter and a continuous learner.
- Extroverted and with a strong inclination towards making connections.
- Accountable, energetic, and hardworking.

If you are interested in the opportunity, please send resume to: jobs@grovestreet.com